ANNUAL RACE MEETING Prospects For Opening Day

THE VALLEY STAKES AND TRIAL PLATE

(BY "LAST QUARTER")

Extensive preparations have been made for the opening day of the 1937 Annual Race Meeting of the Hong Kong Jockey Club and with prospects of fine weather together with the even racing promised, the success of the meeting is assured. The usual artistic display of flowers will be on a larger scale this year and the lawns should present a brilliant array of colours, tastefully blended to satisfy even the most fastidious.

The $100 special Cash Sweep on the Hong Kong Derby is meeting with considerable support and as over 110,000 tickets have been disposed of to date, the total sales should approximate at least $30,000. If this latter figure is attained, the winning ticket will be worth over $50,000 to the lucky holder.

The latest arrivals from the North have been Messrs. D. S. Li and E. C. Leighton, and both jockeys were on view on Wednesday morning, trying out their various mounts. Mr. Li will be once again riding for the popular "Star" stable, owned by Kong Bros., while Mr. Leighton will do service for Mr. E. Tong Sen, whose stable includes Rosemary, joint favourite with Happy Eve for Derby honours.

HIGH STANDARD OF GRIFFINS

The outstanding feature in connection with this year's racing is the high standard of the Derby griffins. These ponies have been doing some extraordinarily fast work during training and they appear to be a much superior contingent than the average ones imported in former years. Rosemary, Havoc Eve, Happy Eve and Expansion Time, to mention but a few, should return some fast times at the meeting and I believe, will give the old champions in the "A" Class, (Liberty Bay excepted) some keen competition at the extra race meetings.

MILITARY ACTION AGAINST JAPAN URGED

Immediate War And Alliance With Soviet Russia

COMMUNIST ADMISSION TO KUOMINTANG

Shanghai, February 18. Among the resolutions due for discussion at the plenary session shortly is one submitted by General Li Tsung-jen, Pacification Commissioner of Kwangsi, who did not attend the session, urging military action against Japan in order to check aggression before China became too weak to resist.

Several other resolutions on similar lines have been received including one signed by Madame Sun Yat-sen. This goes so far as to demand immediate war, but proposes an alliance with Soviet Russia with a view to ultimately resisting Japan. It also advocates the admission of Communists into the Kuomintang in order to form a united national front.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD THAT MARSHAL FENG YU-HSIANG, VICE-CHAIRMAN OF THE MILITARY AFFAIRS COMMISSION, ALSO SPONSORS RESOLUTIONS SUGGESTING REORIENTATION OF CHINA'S POLICY ON THIS SUBJECT.

When the third general meeting of the plenary session commenced this morning, members were confronted with some one hundred resolutions covering the entire range of political, military and economical affairs of the nation.

The five committees were kept busy throughout yesterday examining the resolutions and up to the present only a small proportion of them have been dealt with. On this account it was decided to extend the session an extra day.

CONFIDENCE VOTE

Shanghai, Feb. 18. Despite numerous resolutions urging positive action against Japanese aggression together with alliance with the Communists, the plenary session of the Central

Executive Committee is expected to pass a virtual vote of confidence in the Government and giving it a mandate to continue the present policy.

The session has been extended an extra day and ends on Saturday.

On Her Way To Hollywood And England

To Supervise Filming

Her Highness Sylvia Brooke, Ranee of Sarawak, accompanied by her personal secretary, Miss Mann, was on board the P. and O. liner Naldora which arrived in Hong Kong last night from the South. Press representatives, who boarded the vessel on its arrival, found the co-ruler of the little island territory full of cheerfulness. She was delighted with the beautiful view she saw from the first glimpse she had of Hong Kong.

The Ranee is passing through on her way to Shanghai, from where she will go to the United States by the Empress of Japan. The purpose of her trip is to "make" Hollywood, where she will supervise the filming of her own story entitled "The Great White Rajah," which is a biographical story of the life of Sir James Brooke, the first Rajah Brooke of Sarawak. The film is being produced by Warner Brothers.

Ranee Brooke will remain in Hollywood only for three weeks, after which she will travel to England on board the "R.M.S. Queen Mary" to attend the Coronation in London. She will then stay there until Christmas, visiting her many grandchildren, when she will fly back to Kuching, the capital of Sarawak, which she left only a fortnight ago.

Owing to the late arrival of the vessel the programme for the reception of the distinguished visitor was cancelled. It was originally planned to receive him by a guard of honour provided by the Royal Ulster Rifles of which he is a Colonel.

THE HONG KONG JOCKEY CLUB

Selling Lotteries

Selling lotteries in connection with the Annual Race Meeting were held by the Jockey Club at Happy Valley yesterday evening, commencing at 6 p.m. There were three drawings, the faces concerned being the Valley Stakes, the Rooty Hill Derby and the Hong Kong Derby. The coffee room at the Club House was packed almost to capacity, there being a large attendance of members, friends and a fair number of ladies. Bidding for the various favourites was brisk and the prices paid gives an indication as to the prospects of the various stables and ponies.

In the Valley Stakes, the favourite was Pagan Love, followed by Coronation Day. Other ponies came in for a certain amount of attention, the principal ones being Yum Sing, Tempest, Shipmaster, Elephant, Gordito and Mariposa.

The Rooty Hill Derby saw Court- ing Eve made a favourite with Discovery Bay, Strathearnick, Gypsy Love and Home Brew next in demand. Dick Turpin and Aztec also came in for some support.

Rosemary was made a favourite in the Hong Kong Derby with Happy Eve and Havoc Eve closely behind. King's Coronation, Red Feather and Expansion Time were the only other ponies that were bought in at outside prices.

Cabinet Crisis In South Africa

Captown, Feb. 18.
A crisis occurred in the Union Cabinet to-day, the Minister of Defence, Mr. O. Prow, and the acting Minister of the Interior, Mr. Hofmeyr, expressing contradictory Government policies regarding the Asiatic bills before the Assembly which forbid mixed marriages between Europeans and Asiatics and the employment of Europeans by Asiatics.

While Mr. Prow has given assurances that the bills would become law at this session, Mr. Hofmeyr refused such assurances.

Mr. Hofmeyr, according to lobby circles, tendered his resignation, which has so far not been accepted.

General Smuts and Premier Hertzog are trying to smooth the trouble.

GOOD YEAR'S WORK REVIEWED

Humphreys Estate And Finance Co.

The annual meeting of the Humphreys Estate and Finance Co., Ltd., was held in the Jacobean Room of the Hong Kong Hotel yesterday afternoon, when the report, statement and accounts and auditors' report were formally adopted by the shareholders.

Among those who were present were Messrs. D. E. Clark, J. Scott Harston, J. M. Alves and M. T. Johnson (Directors); Mr. J. L. Quile (Secretary); and Messrs. J. D. Humphreys, J. E. Jupp, W. C. Lee, P. C. Potts, Lo Chung-wan, H. Glittins and C. Bernard-Brown.

CHAIRMAN'S REPORT

In presenting the statement of accounts, the Chairman, said:—The balance of Profit and Loss for the year amounts to $208,202.39, but this figure includes a transfer of $75,000.00 from General Reserve to which I will refer later.

Our working profit for the year, viz., $133,202.39, is in round figures $25,000.00 less than for the preceding twelve months. This decrease is accounted for by a reduction of $16,000 in our Rent Account and Interest on Investments. There is also an increase in Repairs Account and Interest Account of $9,000.00.

LESS EMPTY FLATS

During the year, especially the summer months, we had a considerable number of empty flats on our hands, and these vacancies were largely responsible for our heavier repair bill as it is nearly always necessary to re-decorate before new tenants will take over. I am pleased to state that we now have very few vacancies.

The other items in Profit and Loss Account are very similar to the previous year and do not, I think, call for any special comment from me.

You will note from the Balance Sheet that Special Repairs are again a heavy item. A large proportion of the expenditure during the last few years has been incurred in consequence of the necessity of re-laying the patent roofing to our various blocks of flats on the Island and the Mainland. Expenditure for the current year will again be fairly heavy, but as far as we can see there should then be a reduction under this heading for some time.

TYPHOON DAMAGE

The typhoon of August 16 and 17 cost us over $4,000 and I think perhaps we can congratulate ourselves that we got off as lightly as we did.

It was decided to modernise some of our older flats in Nathan Road, and a sum of $7,913.54 was spent in this connection. This amount has been charged up to Building Improvement Account.

You will note that a sum of $5,425 has been expended on furniture. As a demand for furnished flats existed it was decided in view of the number of flats vacant, partially to furnish a number of these. This step, I am pleased to say, proved popular and all flats so furnished were taken up immediately at rentals giving a satisfactory return.

GENERAL RESERVE

A sum of $75,000.00 has been transferred from this account and credited to Profit and Loss. This amount, together with the addition of $23,784.22 already standing in Profit and Loss Account, it is proposed to use for writing down our share investments to their market value at 31st December last. I trust this transfer meets with your approval.

I do not think that there are any further matters to which I can usefully refer, and I will now formally propose that the Report and Statement of Accounts as presented be adopted that the balance available in Profit and Loss Account be appropriated as follows:—

Pay a dividend of 5% on 200,000 shares	$100,000.00
Transfer to Typhoon & Floods Insurance Reserve A/c	4,424.55
Transfer to Building Improvement Account	7,913.54
Transfer to Special Repairs & Renewals Account	11,379.12
Transfer to gains, depreciation of Investments	103,784.22
And carry forward	13,737.31
	$241,238.74

After this proposal has been duly seconded, I shall be pleased to answer to the best of my ability any questions in connection with the accounts shareholders may wish to ask.

The proposal was seconded by Mr. Lo Chung-wan.

Other motions passed by the meeting included the re-election of the Directors and the re-election of the auditors.

SEBA TENDERS HIS RESIGNATION

Author Of Book Which Caused Much Comment

Prague, Feb. 17. It is officially confirmed here that the Czechoslovakian Minister to Bucharest, Seba, whose recently published book drew much comment in the capitals of the Little Entente, has tendered his resignation.

The President of the Czechoslovakian Republic, Dr. Benes, however, has not yet decided whether he will accept the resignation. It is emphatically stressed that should the resignation be accepted, this must not be taken as a proof that it is due to the protest of a foreign Government at the literary activities of the diplomat, or that the Czechoslovakian Government itself disapproves of these activities.

Opposition papers, however, declare that a non-acceptance of the resignation would mean that the Government shared the views of Seba's book, and thus the resignation could not possibly be refused.

SMALL-POX

The quarantine restrictions, imposed against arrivals from Pakhoi on account of small-pox, have been removed.

A. Chan Kam Moon and A. A. Bremner.

Mr. Williams said that the raid was carried out by S.R.O. Grimmit and a party on the morning of January 7. As the door was not opened upon knocking it was broken in and the first defendant was found in a rear cubicle which was used as a heroin factory. The second accused was in the servants' quarters with two chopsticks in his hands. A drying cupboard in which were 20 trays of pills was found on the premises.

After evidence had been heard, and his Lordship had summed up, the jury retired and on their return pronounced a verdict of guilty against Chan Yuen and not guilty against Mak Hung.

His Lordship described the factory as being large and efficient and passed sentence of three and a half years hard labour on Chan Yuen. Mak Hung was discharged.

REICH CHURCH CONFLICT

Press Views On Settlement

Berlin, Feb. 17. The impending Church elections and their significance for a settlement of the church conflict, are exhaustively discussed by the press here.

Referring to the English and Swiss reports, which allege that the German Government will try to repress the Church, for instance with financial measures, the paper "Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" states that the alarm-mongers who spread such "un-Christian" reports, have now fortunately been deprived of the justification for their reports.

The National Socialist paper "Voelkischer Beobachter," on the other hand, states that neither the Government nor the National Socialist Party wish to interfere in the least in the affairs of faith.

The "Berliner Tageblatt" says: "Whether the General Synod will adopt the Church constitution of 1933, which provides for a Reichsbishop and a Church Ministry, and whether someone, and if so who, will be elected to manage the affairs, all that cannot be predicted, but one fact is certain, the Church congregation and no one else will be the decisive factor."

MOSCOW PRESS COMMENT

Non-Intervention Plan Ridiculed

Moscow, Feb. 17.

The decisions of the London Non-Intervention Committee are called by the semi-official "Pravda," a "Fascist Control Plan Comedy," and Portugal's attitude in particular is stated to be an "obstacle to effective control."

Russia should demand, the paper continues, that if Portugal does not permit the control to be carried out in its territory, then the control should be extended to the Portuguese coast.

WOMAN FOUND NOT GUILTY

Heroin Pill Case

A raid by officers of the Revenue Department on the first floor, of 121, Sai Yee Street, Kowloon, on the morning of January 5 was described before the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, and a jury at the Criminal Sessions yesterday afternoon when an elderly woman, Chan Yee, was charged with the possession of 69,780 heroin pills, to which she pleaded not guilty.

The jury empaneled was as follows:—Messrs. L. Garner (Foreman), G. Cheung, Robert Taylor, Mr. P. Madar, H. Helmeyer, O. el Arculli, and Li Tak Wah.

Mr. E. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney General, said that when the raid was made Senior Revenue Officer Grimmit knocked on the door of the premises twice and got no reply so he burst open the door. There was a strong smell of pills being dried. The rear cubicle was used as a heroin factory. There was nobody present on the floor and the raiding party left.

Mr. Grimmit remained behind, hiding in a stairway in an opposite house. Some ten minutes later the accused appeared and went in. Mr. Grimmit followed and caught her just as she was going into the middle cubicle. In reply to questions, the accused stated that she had lived there for ten days and that the principal tenant was in Canton. She was taken into the rear cubicle where Mr. Grimmit pointed to a tray of hot pills and when asked to whom the trays belonged, the accused said, "They are mine."

When charged the accused replied, "A woman who I did not know asked me to look after the floor for her."

After evidence was taken the jury retired briefly and then returned a verdict of not guilty. The woman was accordingly discharged.

ST. JOHN'S MAN'S GOOD WORK

Snatcher Caught

Li Wah, 17, unemployed of no fixed abode, was brought before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning for the theft of a gold earring valued at $10, belonging to Leung Mui, 30, married woman of 37, Bulkeley Street, ground floor.

Sergeant F. A. Estall, prosecuting, stated that the complainant was walking along Tang Lung Street when the defendant came up from behind and snatched her earring. Mr. S. M. Rumjahn, a member of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, who saw the incident, chased the defendant and arrested him. It was learnt from the witness that the defendant threw the ring away whilst running.

The case was remanded till Saturday to see if the defendant is fit for caning.

Large And Efficient Factory

Two men, Chan Yuen, 22, and Mak Hung, aged 34, appeared before the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday morning and pleaded not guilty to the possession of 133,600 heroin pills at 85, Cairne Road, second floor. Mak Hung was defended by the Hon. Mr. Lee D'Almeida, jun., prosecuted by Mr. F. E. Reel, while Mr. E. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney General, presented.

New Ideas In Design
And Colour

Ducharme for the spring and summer puts mixtures of silk and artificial silk woven into lines and bands which look like piping, pleating, and strapping, states the "Times." All the real silks have dull surfaces. Few are lacquered. These last have pronounced designs. Speaking broadly, it is the dull surface silks which will be fashionable.

Among the printed silks small conventional flowers are sparsely set on dark grounds. There are also striped silks with crossway broken lines. These are used for informal silk dresses. Amusing small designs are common in the Ducharme collection. Dancing figures in white are set with geometrical precision on dark backgrounds. Groups of 'little red and white cottages are printed on dark blue. Animals in bright colours look like flowers, they are so small. Red, white, and blue prints are frequent. A suggestion of the Royal Arms comes into a floral wreath pattern. These are many closely packed Persian designs in exquisite colours, pink, mauve, green, yellow. Where large designs are used, as for evening dress silks and muslins, the drawing of the design is pronounced by a fine pen outline, broken and irregular. Small chessmen make a uniform print on dark silks. Some silks have deep borders; usually they are in flower designs. The Olympic games have provided ideas for the designers.

TARTANS IN SILKS

crêpe-satin has a printed design of small open umbrellas. Natural coloured crêpe satins have big floral designs, all white, but shadowed by silver-grey threads interwoven. All the satins which are to be used for evening have beautiful floral patterns on them, such as tulips, sprays of lilac.

Hand-knitted clothes are brought to perfection in a small collection by Aileen Rice. Her new stitches give style to the most simple of dresses or skirt and jacket ensemble. Leather belts have buttons to match in the forms of life-belts, canoes, and knobs, all in miniature. A black knitted dress has a white crocheted gumpie tucked into the low, square-cut neckline. With a navy-blue skirt goes a grey jumper and over it a jacket in grey and two shades of red, one dark, one light, the whole knitted into a tweed pattern.

Rose Yulofs' spring hats are mostly to be worn forward on the head. Many have broad, straight brims. Breton hats have the brims turned back at different angles, the one from the other. Cloche hats have the brim turned sharply back on one side. Cache peignes of ribbon hold some of the hats firmly to the head. Pill-box toques are made entirely of flowers. Blue, yellow, and pink blossoms are put together. A black picot straw is swathed in pale pink spotted organdie. A big black panama hat has a swathing of black organdie printed with small flowers. Black is much worn, trimmed with bright colours.

Shoes

In New Styles For All Climes

Shoes fascinate most women. Some of the Coronation fashions in shoes have extra allure, as a showing of new American models in the West End just fresh from New York demonstrated the other day, writes a Home correspondent.

There were shoes for the Sunny South, or Palm Beach, or the winter sea cruise, according to luxury requirements or otherwise. There were natty American street shoes which could be had in the new Chinese short-toed shape which are all transparent and entirely faced. This style lends itself to all sorts of colour taste.

IN RED, WHITE AND BLUE
There were handsome red white and blue hand-inserted sequin sandals, with gold kid linings—designed for Coronation festivity wear. And there were elegantly fine gold and silver mesh shoes, with tiny openings for the toes, and, in one case, a large slice out of the heel as well! Round the ankle was a bow of gold kid. Silver and black are just as fashionable in these advanced models, and there are many amusing designs in beautiful glowing flower patterned printed silks. These types had high heels and pointed toes.

There were high-heeled boots of fancy piqué, and cut-out sandals of linen with tiny combed dots of bright multi-coloured felt. Another model was in wine-coloured suede, with patterned straw-like bars in a new material. White, fine basket pattern was relieved by colour bands and pipings. One amusing idea was shown by a straw shoe, which had patent leather tie-ups and a toe-tip opening beyond the cross over. There is a great deal of coloured lacing. For street wear, American women in the finer weather like clear tan colour combined with white buckskin, and the short-toe-high-heel and lacing effect are stressed in these types.

RIBBON STRIFINGS
For resort wear the short rolled effect with all-up-the-front lacing and high straight heels are distinctive. These are called 'lily ribbons' and for sport wear there are 'lily ribbons' and for sport wear there are 'lily ribbons' and for sport wear there are 'lily ribbons'.

Skirts Are To Be Short Again

Skirts in Paris are getting steadily shorter, and now reach only to within 14 in. or 16 in. of the ground.

So in order not to present an awkward silhouette, the Paris fashion kings have decreed that waists must go higher, says the British United Press.

On evening gowns the waists are higher than on day dresses. Some fashion houses are showing light little skirts, others full, and some have compromised by giving a slim and straight line in front and plenty of fullness at the back.

Linen promised to be one of the year's most popular materials. Those shown in Paris are heavier and more substantial than the linen of the past. Some of the linen shown in Paris are heavier and more substantial than the linen of the past.

AT THE POINT OF FASHION

Hair continues to take the upward trend, says a correspondent in the "Daily Telegraph." Sausage-curls are demode. Ringed-round ones, skillfully flattened, follow the headline better.

Stockings for the moment are chic in the darker rustic colour, with suede plain gaudied gloves to match. These stockings are worn with the tailored suit, with black or brown shoes.

The smartest country fur coat seen is a caracul-paw—a loose sort of Thibet-looking pelt—in fawn or grey, and lined cerise or yellow. The coat is straight, collarless and perfectly plain, to reach well below the hips.

The rough tweed skirt, country gloves is a bright cherry shade in knitted silk, but the real hunting crowd choose the yellow silk.

Country colours of clear brightness are those to be chosen for winter weather. Black tweed has its own charm, however—both for the now and a grey, misty landscape.

The variety of suede booties increases, their reign will last except perhaps in quiet shades. Gay boots are all very well for a change, but like the too bright glove they fail to hold the stage of fashion for long.

Shine continues. The varnished look is helpful. All patent leathers and lacquered fabrics will have their place in this season's vogue. Spotted effects mix well with the plain calf.

Fashionable, semi-precious stones of the hour are aquamarines, topaz, amethysts, turquoise, corals and crystal. The old-fashioned garnet and cameo are also in the picture. Modern setting makes a great difference to all such stones, and they will assist in charming colour schemes for Spring.

The all-white hat has come back. Paris is responsible for some tiny pork-pie shapes in all-white straws, dull and shiny, trimmed with white lilac and lilacs. Some of these have a strip of straw as a bandana at the back.

Newest veils are cut in circular form but worn off the face. These are of a plain net to which a deep border of lace, tulle or spaced sequins is added. Black leads in popularity, brown and navy are also used.

PARIS FASHIONS
New Ideas In Design

Ducharme for the spring and summer puts mixtures of silk and artificial silk woven into lines and bands which look like piping, pleating, and strapping, states the "Times." All the real silks have dull surfaces. Few are lacquered. These last have pronounced designs. Speaking broadly, it is the dull surface silks which will be fashionable.

Among the printed silks small conventional flowers are sparsely set on dark grounds. There are also striped silks with crossway broken lines. These are used for informal silk dresses. Amusing small designs are common in the Ducharme collection. Dancing figures in white are set with geometrical precision on dark backgrounds. Groups of little red and white cottages are printed on dark blue. Animals in bright colours look like flowers. They are so small. Red, white, and blue prints are frequent. A suggestion of the Royal Arms comes into a floral wreath pattern. These are many closely packed Persian designs in exquisite colours, pink, mauve, green, yellow. Where large designs are used, as for evening dress silks and muslins, the drawing of the design is pronounced by a fine pen outline, broken and irregular. Small chessmen make a uniform print on dark silks. Some silks have deep borders; usually they are in flower designs. The Olympic games have provided ideas for the designers.

TARTANS IN SILKS

crêpe-satin has a printed design of small open umbrellas. Natural coloured crêpe satins have big floral designs, all white, but shadowed by silver-grey threads interwoven. All the satins which are to be used for evening have beautiful floral patterns on them, such as tulips, sprays of lilac.

Hand-knitted clothes are brought to perfection in a small collection by Alleen Rice. Her new stitches give style to the most simple of dresses or skirt and jacket ensemble. Leather belts have buttons to match in the forms of life-belts, canoes, and knobs, all in miniature. A black knitted dress has a white crocheted gimp tucked into the low square-cut neckline. With a navy-blue skirt goes a grey jumper and over it a jacket in grey and two shades of red, one dark, one light, the whole knitted into a tweed pattern.

Rose Valois's spring hats are mostly to be worn forward on the head. Many have broad straight brims. Breton hats have the brims turned back at different angles, the one from the other. Cloche hats have the brim turned sharply back on one side. Cache peignes of ribbon hold some of the hats firmly to the head. Pill-box toques are made entirely of flowers. Blue, yellow, and pink blossoms are put together. A black pilot straw is swathed in pale pink spotted organdie. A big black panama hat has a swathing of black organdie printed with small flowers. Black is much worn, trimmed with bright colours.

Shoes

In New Styles For All Climes

Shoes fascinate most women. Some of the Coronation fashions in shoes have extra allure, as a showing of new American models in the West End just fresh from New York demonstrated the other day, writes a Home correspondent. There were shoes for the Sunny South, or Palm Beach, or the winter sea cruise, according to luxury requirements or otherwise. There were natty American street shoes which could be had in the new Chinese short-toed shape which are all transparent and entirely faced. This style lends itself to all sorts of colour taste.

IN RED, WHITE AND BLUE
There were handsome red white and blue hand-inserted sequin sandals, with gold kid linings—designed for Coronation festivity wear. And there were elegantly fine gold and silver mesh shoes, with tiny openings for the toes, and, in one case, a large slice out of the heel as well! Round the ankle was a bow of red kid.

Silver and black, as just as fashionable in these advanced models, and there are many amusing designs in beautiful glowing flower patterned printed silks. These types had high heels and pointed toes.

There were high-heeled boots of fancy piqué, and cut-out sandals of linen with tiny confetti dots of bright multi-coloured felt. Another model was in wine-coloured suede, with patterned straw-like bars in a new material. White, fine basket pattern was relieved by colour bands and pipings. One amusing idea was shown by a straw shoe, which had patent leather tie-ups and a toe-tip opening beyond the cross over. There is a great deal of coloured lacing. RIBBON STRIPINGS

SPEEDING UP OF PHONE CALLS

New System in Cases of Emergency

London, Feb. 18.
The Post Office has made elaborate arrangements for effecting a considerable speeding up of London's emergency telephone calls in cases of fire, crime or accident.
As regards calls by private subscribers, in the near future a system will be introduced in areas served by automatic exchanges by which, on the subscriber dialling the code numbers, the immediate attention of the operator will be secured by a visual signal and audible alarm. At the same time, police stations, fire brigades and ambulance services are being linked by a newly devised system, reducing operation of an emergency call to seconds, with a new type of street telephone pillar to be erected in large numbers throughout London.

"LIVING DEATH" OF SEPARATION

Mr. Herbert & Right To Divorce

An amendment to the Marriage Bill, affecting the clause dealing with judicial separation as a ground for divorce, was introduced by Mr. A. P. Herbert (Ind., Oxford University) when the Standing Committee of the House of Commons met. Mr. Herbert is one of the promoters of the bill.
He said that by granting non-cohabitation orders Courts were producing a state of living death, where people were separated eternally and neither husband nor wife could start a new home.
Failure to form a quorum delayed the sitting of the Committee. There were ironical cheers when eventually a member entered and completed the necessary quorum.
Before the debate began Cmdr. Bower (Con., Cleveland) moved the adjournment of the Committee. He objected to Mr. Herbert's amendment being put down at the last moment.
It was extremely complicated and bristled with legal technicalities, he said. It would certainly require close study, and he did not think they could possibly discuss it that day.
Major J. Milner (Soc., Leeds, S.E.), who presided, said he was not inclined to accept Cmdr. Bower's motion, although he deprecated amendments being put down at a late hour.
TO MEET OPPOSITION VIEWS
Mr. Herbert said that the amendment had been designed to meet the views of the Opposition. "We are not driving something through which we want and nobody else wants," he said.
The general effect of the amendment, he said, was that where there had been a judicial separation order by the High Court, or an order through the Court of Jurisdiction to the same purport, after a three years' interval during which the parties had not cohabited the innocent party might go to the High Court and ask to be granted a divorce, without having to rake up the old evidence on which the original order was granted.
The Court, however, might say that it did not like the look of things, and require to hear the original evidence or ask for additional evidence.
"Let there be judicial separation as a temporary measure," said Mr. Herbert, "but if at last it is shown that the parties cannot come together then let there be divorce."
"I will maintain to my dying day that there is nothing wrong with remarriage. In many cases remarriage is in the interests not only of the individual but of the State."

the Lower House, despite all the lessons and the crisis which caused the fall of the Hirota Government.
The political parties are still intensely bitter against the Army and apparently are determined to continue their efforts to estrange the Army from the Navy and the nation. Observers are of the opinion that the Army will shortly renew its demands for the dissolution of the Diet unless the parties change their tactics.

JANET GAYNOR LORETTA YOUNG CONSTANCE BENNETT SIMONE IN "LADIES IN LOVE"

WIVES NEVER KNOW

The most that can be stirred up in the lives of a happily wedded pair by a self-appointed love expert who has some original if not startling theories on the anatomy of happiness, is delightfully portrayed in a new comedy starring Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland, and featuring Adolphe Menjou, "Wives Never Know," which has its run at the Queen's Theatre to-day.

The couple, the inimitable Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland, thought they were ideally wedded until suave Adolphe Menjou, author of "Marriage—The Living Death," arrives upon the scene. He convinces the husband that he is depriving his wife of one of woman's greatest joys—jealousy, and the wife that she is not living a full life because her husband's conduct deprives her of the opportunity to enjoy the great moral exaltation which comes to a woman only by forgiving her mate for his transgressions. The manner in which Ruggles sets out to remedy this evil and the complications which ensue form one of the most hilarious and delightful domestic comedies of the current season.

YOURS FOR THE ASKING

New honours are won by both George Raft and Dolores Costello Barrymore, co-stars in the light-footed comedy-romance, "Yours for the Asking," at the Star Theatre.

Raft appears as a gambling house proprietor seeking to start the social climb; to exchange his "tough guy" mannerisms for the manners of the drawing room. It is a part suited perfectly to his tastes, and one similar to roles in which the steel-eyed star has won his greatest fame.

Ms Barrymore's a society girl, daughter of a banker who has died and left his mansion groaning under the weight of mortgages. She leases the place to the gambler, then helps him set up a swank gambling layout in it. Gradually she realizes that she is falling in love with Raft, but he remains blind to her feelings.

Sensing that romance is about to break up the life that they have had with their boss, three Raft aides, James Gleason, Lynne Overman and Edgar Kennedy, concoct a scheme to prevent it. They employ Ida Lupino, beautiful adventuress, to win Raft and

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1937

"Gold Diggers of 1937," latest in the famous series of every-other-year musical comedies, made by Warner Bros., opens to-day at the King's Theatre, with Dick Powell and Joan Blondell, the newly-weds, as its stars.

It has, like its predecessors, a lot of fast-stepping, lovely-to-look-at dancing girls, trained by Busby Berkeley, and is interspersed with new hit songs by Harold Arlen and E. Y. Harburg, and Harry Warren and Al Dubin.

Victor Moore, popular comedian of the New York musical comedy stage, helps support the Powell-Blondell star combination. There is also Lee Dixon, noted eccentric dancer from Broadway, making his screen debut; a new and striking torch-singer, such familiar fun-makers as Glenda Farrell, Osgood Perkins, Olin Howland, Irene Ware and Charles D. Brown. Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell, as chorus girls out of a job, are said to hit a new high record in fun-making, love-making and money-making, outdoing all their previous performances as gold diggers. And there's love interest aplenty, with Joan and Dick romancing, and the brand-new comedy team of Farrell and Moore doing a Mr. and Mrs. at the end.

THE GIRL ON THE FRONT PAGE

Some people crave publicity. Others shrink from it. "The Girl on the Front Page" gets more than her share when a blackmailing butler spreads scandal about her in the Universal picture which is showing at the Alhambra Theatre to-day.

Gloria Stuart, as "The Girl on the Front Page," is a society debutante who inherits a newspaper from her father. Her managing editor is portrayed by Edmund Lowe, who proves himself a comedian of exceptional skill. He scores laughs that come right from the waistline.

The hilarious picture presents new angles on the newspaper movie and sparkles with grand comedy dialogue. Rolling fun, it is expertly directed by Harry Beaumont.

Re-reworks start when Gloria overhears the editor airing his opinions about "female newspaper owners." She goes for him fire and fangs and he heaps coals of fire on her head.

The blackmail ring, headed by the butler, walks into a trap set by the editor and the heiress. That entitles the sharpers to a brass ring, and another ride, to jail. Dan Cupid sets a different trap for the hardboiled editor and he finally marries the society girl, which, naturally, calls for a gold ring.

Other excellent performances are given by Reginald Owen as the blackmailing butler; Spring Byington as the society mother; David Oliver as the office boy and Gilbert Emery as the family lawyer.

Four him against women in general and society girls in particular.

"Yours for the Asking" is a balanced combination of romance and comedy, blended skillfully into a fast-moving, air-tight plot without loose ends. Perfectly suited to the best abilities of its principals and rounded out by smooth-acting on the part of its excellently supporting cast, it provides summer entertainment of a high order.

CAUBEEN FOR LONDON IRISH

To Be Worn At The Coronation

The caubeen is to be the official head-dress of the London Irish Rifles (Territorials). The caubeen, according to a dictionary definition, is a hat, especially a shabby old hat.

The London Irish caubeen is brand new and green. It is like a tam o' shanter or a Balmoral bonnet, and is worn by the pipers of the Irish Guards.

The London Irish will appear in it for the first time at the Coronation. One member of the regiment will wear it before then. He is Captain J. R. J. Macnamara, M.P., and the occasion of his first appearance in the new head-dress will be the Speaker's Levee at the House of Commons.

The Duke of Connaught, honorary colonel of the regiment, has approved of the introduction of the "definitely Irish head-dress."

M.P.s Want To Curb 'The Dead Hand'

Husbands Who Make Other Women Their Heirs

The House of Commons was asked recently to put right a wrong which has been condemned for years—the power of a dead man or woman to inflict injustice by means of a will.

Mr. W. Windsor, Socialist M.P. for Kingston-upon-Hull, will move the second reading of a Private Members' Bill providing that a widow or widower or children left without reasonable provision by a deceased spouse or father or a parent similarly placed, shall have a right of appeal to the courts to obtain suitable provision out of the estate.

HE DISINHERITED HIS WIFE

Many instances of hardship inflicted by wills have been brought to light.

One man left a fortune to an hotel maid with nothing for his widow. A man who died worth £700,000 cut his widow and children out of his will.

A well-to-do man, who contributed to his wife who was in a mental home, left her nothing when he died and she became a public charge.

Two daughters who devoted themselves to looking after their widower father, were disinherited when he died. He left all his money to a second wife.

SHE DISINHERITED HER HUSBAND

Women make these unjust wills as well as men.

There is a case on record of a man who married a rich wife and who gave up his Army career at her request. When she died she left him nothing.

A Joint Select Committee of both Houses of Parliament which investigated the matter concluded that there was "substantial number of cases in which widows or widowers and children, who were unable to support themselves, have been unjustifiably left unprotected."

Mr. Windsor's Bill is based on the Committee's recommendations.

WE WENT TO COLLEGE

"We Went To College," the current screen attraction at the Majestic Theatre, must have been expressly designed to make people forget their troubles for here is a picture which keeps its audiences laughing from its opening shot to its final fadeout.

Charles Butterworth, Walter Abel, Hugh Herbert, Una Merkel and Edith Atwater are the principals in an outstanding all-comedy cast. Individually these players have provided the comedy highlight of many a film production; collectively they supply a barrage of laughter and good humour impossible to resist.

Charles Butterworth, as a college pal who finally helps the business man out of his predicament, has never been in a funnier role, playing his "life of the party" characterization for all it is worth. Abel gives an excellent portrayal as the business man, and Una Merkel is 'daddy' cast as the wife of the professor who tries in vain to live up to her bored campus life with a harmless flirtation. The amusing Hugh Herbert as the professor, adds immeasurably to the fun, and Edith Atwater, a newcomer from the stage, is splendid as Abel's wife.

Sir V. Sassoon's Toy Shop Party

Hotel Transformed Into Toyland

The ballroom of the Cathay Hotel presented a gay scene on Chinese New Year's Eve, states the "North-China Daily News," when Sir Victor Sassoon, greeted several hundred of his younger friends at his "Toy Shop" party. The ballroom was transformed to represent an actual toy shop with toys of every description lining the shelves, life-size dolls decorated the pillars and flags completely covered the ceiling. Pictures of toys were all over the very attractive supper menus and they also were printed on the paper napkins.

Sir Victor greeted his guests as the toy shop proprietor. He wore a green-belted apron, grey wig and a black hat.

Although space prohibits the description of all costumes, they were most ingenious. There were dolls, galleons, masculine and feminine. There were characters out of "Alice in Wonderland" and many of those who took part in the Gypsy Ball the night before came as gypsy dolls.

SURVEY PARTY'S ADVENTURES

Five Days Under Dinghy

Further particulars have been received in London from Lieutenant Hill, Master of the R.R.S. Discovery II, of the adventures of the survey party which was reported to be missing in the South Shetlands.

The party landed at Esther Harbour, King George Island, on January 6. They had with them sleeping equipment and ample rations, and the ship was to return for them not later than January 12. They left their camp or base two days later in a motor-boat and "drum" or dinghy, in order to take observations some miles along the coast, taking some food and cooking utensils. Attempts made for five days and nights to return to the camp failed, however, because the engine of the motor-boat broke down, but the boat was brought to anchor near the shore. Bad weather then set in and the party had to land for safety. The motor-boat sank at anchor in a gale, and the party spent five more days on the beach, living under the upturned dinghy.

The search for the party was at first hampered by fog and stormy weather, but eventually the boats of the Discovery II and a cutter from H.M.S. Ajax were able to make a thorough search of the coast. The party were sighted on the evening of January 18 about nine miles from the base, and were taken on board the Discovery II, all well.

IMPORTATION OF HEROIN INTO COLONY

Shanghai Chinese Gets Seven Years

"I would be entirely failing in my duty if I did not pass an extremely severe sentence on you."

With these words, the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday passed sentence of seven years' hard labour on a Shanghai man, Wong Shau Sheung, who pleaded guilty to charges of possession of and importing 228 ounces of crude heroin aboard the Butterfield and Swire s.s. Hupeh on January 4 last.

His Lordship added that it was a very good thing for the population of the Colony that the accused was caught.

Mr. E. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney General, appearing for the Crown, pointed out that the drug was sufficient to make practically 6,000,000 heroin pills. He submitted that the charge of importing was more serious than possession.

Mr. H. C. Macnamara, instructed by Mr. W. M. Brown, was for the defence, and said that the two counts to which the accused had pleaded guilty were in effect one offence. The question of sentence, he said, depended on certain considerations. In the first place the accused had pleaded guilty and counsel would put it forward as more from a moral point of view.

Merely A Carrier
"I think it is clear," said Mr. Macnamara, "that this man is not the principal criminal, that is to say, he is merely a carrier. His occupation before this offence took place was that of a fireman. He is out of work and is poor, and has his mother, wife and two children dependant on him. In this case he accepted money from some person or other to bring this stuff into the Colony."

Mr. Williams (replying to his Lordship): I understand that he has not given full disclosures as to the principals in this case.

Mr. Macnamara: I am instructed that he did not know. He received $35 to bring the stuff here. He may have known where to take it in the Colony. In addition, your Lordship, up to the time of his arrest this man had a good character. The Revenue Department have nothing known against him. He has been employed by the B. and S. in one of their steamers in the North.

Mr. Williams: I would like to point out the enormous quantity that he had carried in and, in the second place, he, as a fireman, would have ample opportunity to do that and a man in that position should be all the more careful.

Mr. Macnamara: He was a passenger at the time of his arrest.

Importing Charge Stressed
Mr. Williams: The amount of heroin was sufficient to make practically 6,000,000 pills. I submit that the importing charge is more serious than possession.

His Lordship: Wong Shau Sheung, you have pleaded guilty to two counts which, as your counsel has pointed out, really only represent different angles of the same transaction against the law of this Colony.

For six months past the authorities of Hong Kong have been directing a vigorous campaign against traffic in dangerous drugs and I find it difficult to imagine that anyone, even though only making passing visits to Hong Kong, is unaware of that campaign and does not know well that anything to do with dangerous drugs is an offence against the laws of Hong Kong. The worst aspect of your case to me is this. If it were not for people like you who bring in raw material for heroin there would be no red pill or dangerous red pill traffic here. You have quite deliberately, for a money consideration, undertaken, what I am satisfied you must have known was a very dangerous task and it is a very good thing for the population of the Colony that you were caught. I would be entirely failing in my duty if I did not pass an extremely severe sentence on you. The sentence of this Court is that you go to prison with hard labour for a term of seven years on each count, the sentences to run concurrently."

ARMED ROBBERY SEQUEL

A week's formal remand was granted when Wong Yat-hong, 23, alias Wong Hong-ying, alias Wong Chi-ping, was charged with (a) armed robbery on February 16, from No. 10 Po Hing Street, ground floor and stealing the sum of $35 from and inflicting grievous bodily harm on In Pan, 18, of Po Hing Street, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning.

Detective Sergeant Pilkington asked for the remand and asked that the case be taken for committal.

POLICE CONSTABLES IN TROUBLE

Seven days' remand was granted by Mr. K. Barnett in the case in which Chan Kam-tai, aged 23, Police Constable C365, was charged at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday with misconducting himself as a police officer. Bail was fixed at $50.

Yu Yee, 33, seaman No. 58, of the Water Police, was also charged with the same offence. His Worship granted the remand of 48 hours on Det.-Sgt. Headridge's application.

BANISHEE GAOLED

For returning to the Colony from banishment, Chung Hok, 19, unemployed, of no fixed abode, was arrested on Wednesday at Cleverley Street, near Jevols Street, and was sentenced to six months' hard labour when he was brought before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning.

GAOL TERM FOR YOUNG DRUG OFFENDER

"Youth Will Not Be Taken Into Consideration"

Remanded from the January Sessions on a charge of the possession of an ounce of crude heroin, 140 ounces of pink mass and 28,350 pills, at No. 105 Leighton Hill Road, top floor, Li Pui, a youth stated to be 15 years of age, was sent to prison for two and a half years with hard labour by the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday morning.

"I stated six months ago that neither sex nor youth would be taken into consideration in these cases," remarked his Lordship. "There is no other place to which I can send a young person of your age except to one or other of the recognised prisons of the Colony."

When the youth appeared yesterday, his Lordship remarked at first that he had found that there was no provision for boys between 15 and 16 years. He had considerable objection to sending children of the accused's age to prison. He asked Mr. Williams, Assistant Attorney General, if he could tell whether any further enquiries had been made to verify the youth's age.

WHIPPING AS ALTERNATIVE?
Mr. Williams replied that he was not in a position to say so. He understood from B. R. O. Grimmit that the Magistrate thought the accused was more than 15. Would it be possible for the accused to have a whipping? asked Mr. Williams.

His Lordship replied that if he took that course it might open an avenue for traffickers in dangerous drugs to use females of that size in which case whipping would be entirely out of the question.

WHEN THIEVES FALL OUT

Sequel To Kowloon Burglary

Appearing before Mr. E. Himmworth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday Wong King-hing, 40, unemployed, was charged with burglary alleged to have committed on February 13 when he stole a quantity of clothing and jewellery to a total value of $80, property of Yeung Sam, of Kai Yan Road.

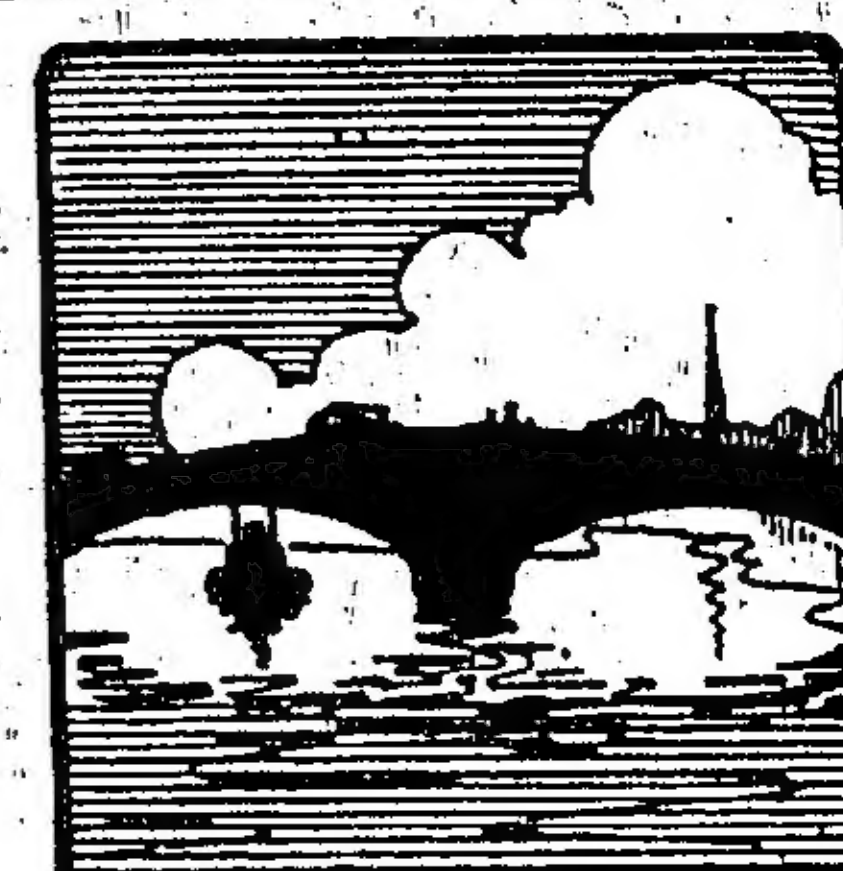

Ma Kwok-ngau, a 24-year-old unemployed was charged with breaking into 39, Yim Ping Street, first floor, and stealing some pieces of clothing and a camera on January 20. He was also charged, together with first defendant, with breaking into No. 13, Poplar Street on Friday last and stealing some pieces of clothing.

Det.-Sgt. MacPherson said that on Saturday last, about 5.15 p.m., first defendant was seen by an Indian constable carrying a parcel containing articles which were stolen from Yeung Sam. He took him back to the Station where he admitted having taken part in the other burglaries, and it was then that he gave second defendant's name to the Police.

First defendant was sentenced to six months' imprisonment while second defendant was given a term of 12 months.

FORGED NOTE CASE AT SESSIONS

Jury Returns Verdict Of Guilty

On arraignment before Mr. Justice Hayden at the Criminal Sessions yesterday, Mok Nga, 32, unemployed, pleaded not guilty to a charge of the possession of ten forged $5 bank notes of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, knowing them to be forged.

The following jury was empanelled to hear the case:—Messrs. G. A. Hartman (Foreman), H. Koerner, Suk Che Hing, Lam Shu Wan, L. H. Warnecke, G. A. Ribeiro, and D. B. Bone.

Prosecuting, Mr. M. J. Abbott, Assistant Crown Solicitor, said that on the evening of January 21, district watchman No. 10, as a result of information received, arrested the defendant in Lockhart Road and said that he had been told that the defendant had a forged $5 bank note in his possession. The defendant produced a note from his jacket pocket and said that he did not know if it was genuine or not. At the Wanchai Police Station while the accused was standing in the dock of the charge room, the district watchman saw the defendant pull out a wad of what appeared to be notes out of his right hip pocket and throw them on the floor of the dock. They were picked up and found to be nine forged $5 bank notes similar to the one the defendant had produced previously.

When charged, the defendant replied, "My friend handed them over to me in Canton to be taken here. I did not know whether they were genuine or forgeries."

In Search Of Work
At the Police Court hearing, the accused stated that he had a friend in Canton where the accused was a soldier. He was out of work. This friend repaid him $50 in Hong Kong bank notes and he decided to go to Swatow to find work. He did not know at the time that the notes were bad. He had not been half a day in Hong Kong when he was arrested. His military uniform, he said, would naturally attract the attention of the police even if he did not have forged bank notes.

Evidence was then called, after which accused was found guilty by the jury.

Mr. Abbott said that in view of the large amount of bad money circulating in the Colony he would ask that the offence of the accused be marked by a severe sentence as a warning to others.

Two years' hard labour was imposed.

ROYAL EMPIRE SOCIETY

Aims And Activities Explained

[To The Editor, The Hong Kong "Daily Press"]

Sir,—General Sir Alexander Godley arriving by the "Naldern" is a Deputy Chairman of The Royal Empire Society.

It may be of interest to your readers to know something of the aims and activities of that Society, namely, to promote a permanent union and a better mutual understanding between the Mother Country and all other parts of the Empire. To encourage and facilitate trade and industry by collecting and distributing information regarding the openings for trade in the various parts of the Empire. To provide a meeting place for members from all parts of the world. To give lectures and addresses, and to hold meetings for the discussion and advancement of subjects of Imperial interest.

The Headquarters of the Society are in Northumberland Avenue, a minute's walk from Trafalgar Square. This magnificent new building was opened in November last, 1936, by the then Duke and Duchess of York. The main rooms have a special system of ventilation and fresh air is continually circulating, the interior being being thus rendered immune from London's worst atmospheric effects.

The Library which is the finest of its kind in the world contains over a quarter of a million volumes; all books except books of reference can be taken out on loan. The newspaper room has 1,000 newspaper, magazines, and Periodicals from all quarters of the Empire.

The Dining Room will seat 350, and there is also a Buffet. The Assembly Hall built in the form of a Theatre is fitted with a dance floor. There are several lounges, reading and card rooms, a silence room, changing rooms, and in addition a drawing room and rest room for ladies, and smoking and billiard rooms for men. There are 55 excellent bedrooms each room fitted with a telephone, every detail has been carefully planned, and Fellows can be assured of every comfort and good service. Fellows have the advantage of a standing postal and registered telegraphic and cable address in the United Kingdom.

All British subjects, men and women, are eligible for membership provided they are proposed and seconded by two Fellows, one of whom must certify his personal knowledge and approval of the candidate.

Rules have just been passed for the election of young people on easy terms. The privileges of these Companions will be defined as the Junior Section develops.

All Fellows of the Society have sent to them post free the Society's monthly magazine, "United Empire," which aims at keeping its readers throughout the world posted on matters of Imperial interest. The support of all British Subjects is earnestly desired;—to join as a Fellow, or to persuade another to do so, represents a definite quota of individual service to the Empire.

Candidates for election may apply either to me, or to one of the other local hon. Secretaries.

Mrs. Abbott 458 The Peak.
Mr. C. B. Gifford Hull "Saltash" King's Park, Kowloon.

THE GAETANO GIRLS

Marking their second appearance in this Colony, the Gaetano Girls will make their debut at the Gloucester Hotel on Saturday night when they will present a number of dance numbers. The American quintette, comprising of Helen and Elsie Risoli, Madeline Dressler, Maxine Wingo and Josephine Pullo, first teamed together over five years ago, since when they have toured the Far East extensively.

These five girls were in high school together in Colorado many years ago and their combination is, therefore, a very happy one.

Two years ago the Gaetano Girls came out to the East and placed themselves under the management of Mr. A. Carpi with whom they have toured all the leading cities in the East. The Gaetano Girls have proven themselves of high entertainment value with their snappy dance numbers.

This team made their first appearance in the Orient in Shanghai at the Cathay Hotel from which they came on to the Colony and delighted the patrons of the Hong Kong Hotel during their stay here. Among other cities they have visited since last year were Manila, Singapore, Bangkok, Ceylon and Calcutta.

Diners at the Gloucester Hotel on Saturday night will be given a real treat when these girls make their appearances on the ballroom floor.

OBITUARY

Old Shanghai Resident

The death occurred at the Kowloon Hospital yesterday of Mr. Patrick Russell, aged 66 years, formerly of the Shanghai Municipal Council in the capacity of construction foreman. The funeral took place at the Colonial Cemetery, Happy Valley, last evening, with the Rev. J. R. Higgs, vicar of St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, officiating.

KOWLOON GODOWN EMPLOYEE
Mr. Lau Suu-long, who died at his residence in No. 61, Yu Chau Street, Shamshuipo, on Monday night, was buried at the Permanent Cemetery, Pokfulam, yesterday.

The deceased was 62 years of age and had been in the employ of the Kowloon Wharf and Godown Company for 40 years. He was also the proprietor of the money-changer's shop at the Star Ferry Wharf, Hong Kong.

The funeral was largely attended by relatives and friends.

INDIANS IN COURT

Three Indians of the Lo Wo Company, New Territories, Mahomed Omer, M. R. Rauf and Chiragh Din made their appearance before Mr. K. Keen at Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon in an assault case.

Mr. A. el Arculli appeared for the defendant while Mr. M. A. de Silva was present for the complainant. After evidence was given his Worship adjourned the case till next Friday afternoon.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS CONCLUDE

The last case on the Criminal Sessions calendar was heard before Mr. Justice J. J. Hayden yesterday afternoon when Li Wo, alias Ho Fung, was charged with committing a breach of the Deportation Ordinance.

The following jury was empanelled:—Messrs. W. G. Robertson (Foreman), Wong Sik-chung, L. J. A. Fielden, A. E. B. de Souza, E. Staurengal, Li Yu-cheung and J. M. Silva.

The accused was deported on August 26, 1936, for life.

Mr. M. J. Abbott, Assistant Crown Solicitor, prosecuting, said that the position in the case was that when the accused was asked to plead to the indictment a few days ago he made a statement which appeared to show that he had wandered into British territory from Chinese territory by mistake. It was dark at the time and, if the accused did make a bona fide mistake that would be a lawful excuse for breaking the deportation order.

The Crown's case was that the accused was arrested just by a garage at the Shautaukok bus terminus which was well inside British territory and was very different from the accused's statement when charged which was that he was three paces over the border in British territory.

The accused was arrested by a detective on information. After evidence had been heard, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

His Lordship remarked that in ordinary events he would discharge the accused but as he was a banished he would have to leave the Colony.

Mr. Abbott said that police arrangements would be made for the accused to leave for Shum Chun by train last night.

SEQUEL TO ROBBERY

Charges of robbery of $891.09 from Ng Man Yee of 4, Kwan Yick Street on February 7 last, were preferred against Li Sin, 59, Pang Sheng, 33, Li Shum, 28, and Li Yan-ting, 23, before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning.

Sub-Inspector Johnson, prosecuting, said that the case was for a criminal and applied for a week's formal remand, which was granted.

WHEN JAPAN
GOES POETIC

That well-known assertion that if a man could make a nation's songs he need have no concern about who made its laws seems to attach much more importance to poetry than it does to politics; on that basis one bard would count for far more in the affairs of men than a whole Front Bench of Right Honourables.

That is not an estimate that is ordinarily reflected in the news columns—as we have been sharply reminded in messages from Japan. Conflict in the Diet and resignations of Ministers have recently been reported at great length in the newspapers of this Colony, but the briefest paragraph has served for the announcement that 41,496 poems by Japanese citizens were submitted for judgment in the Imperial New Year poetry contest that was held in the Emperor's Palace.

But perhaps the poems were sharply political and closely concerned with the tangled skein of State affairs? Not at all—they were all on the theme (which the Emperor himself had selected) "A Farmhouse in Snow."

Nothing could be more pastoral and less political; the mere thought of the farmhouse surrounded by snowdrifts is calculated to reduce any hot gusts of party passion. Yet over forty thousand Japanese songsters sat down to see what they could do with it, and that at a time when domestic politics were boiling up to a crisis.

It suggests a vastly different Japan from the politico-militarist Moloch that we hear so much about—forty thousand bards all busy with snowflakes round the farm instead of with irons in the fire.

And if they could turn out in such numbers for a chilly, mid-winter theme like that, how many poetical divisions could be put on parade for "A Spring Poem on Cherry Blossom"?

LANTERN LECTURE ON VILLAGE LIFE

At a lantern lecture given last night at the St. Andrew's Church Hall, Rev. Wittenbach, who is on missionary work among the villagers in the Canton Delta, and who is well acquainted with the villagers, gave a very impressive talk about the life and conditions of the villagers in South China.

With the help of the clearly illustrated lantern plates, the speaker revealed the hardships that the farmers have to bear and the catastrophes of floods and droughts they have to face regarding their crops. He spoke of the poor life which the farmers are living, and made a striking comparison, saying that the revenue they get from their crops is often less than the money spent in buying newspapers by any public-minded person here. He also pointed out the ignorance of the children, and stressed the need for education.

CENTRAL RESERVE BANK IN CHINA

Leith-Ross Welcomes Announcement

Assurance Of Confidence In Reforms

London, February 18. Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, interviewed by Reuter on the establishment of a Central Reserve Bank, said: "I am very glad to hear the announcement that the Chinese Government has decided to transform the Central Bank into a Central Reserve Bank with control over the issue of notes, currency and Government funds. I await details as to the charter of the new bank, but assuming these give the bank adequate powers, its creation should greatly help to assure confidence permanently in Chinese currency reform and I welcome it."

Banking circles are also favourably impressed. It is assumed that the Chinese Government reserve the right to nominate some of the directors, thus retaining part control of the bank according to the increasing tendency of the Governments of all countries except England.

The question of future note issue in Hong and Chahar arouses interest, but it is pointed out that this independence is theoretical rather than practical, since the northern provinces are obliged to keep a reserve of Government notes to maintain the value of their own issue.

SOVIET-LITHUANIAN AGREEMENTS

Berlin, Feb. 18. That the Soviet Russian Marshal Yagorov submitted to the Lithuanian Foreign Minister a draft of renewed Soviet-Lithuanian agreements which provide that the Soviet Union will deliver ammunition to Lithuania in the event of war, while Lithuania assumes the obligation to employ Soviet instructors in the Lithuanian air force, is asserted in a report to the "Anglo" from its Moscow correspondent.

The draft of the proposed pact, moreover, contains reference to the Memei question, according to the correspondent, who declares that official quarters in Moscow are following with keenest attention the negotiations which Marshal Yagorov is conducting with the Government of Kovno.

Five hundred workers at Anzin mines in Denain entered into a strike demanding a 15 per cent. wage increase. Since the strikers mostly belong to the railway staff of the mines, the entire personnel had to stop working.

ARMAMENTS DEBATE

Britain's Price For Peace

London, Feb. 18. The armaments debate in the House of Commons was the principle topic in the press here this morning. In the majority of the papers, the new developments stated in the speech of the Chancellor of the Exchequer were analysed. The press is unanimous in declaring that Britain is arming against her will, and it is pointed out that the sum of £1,500 million which is to be spent for rearmament, is the price of peace which England unfortunately is obliged to pay.

Special prominence is given to Mr. Chamberlain's closing remarks that it must be a cause of indignation and shame to every one that the civilised world, instead of adjusting its differences in a peaceful manner, arms itself practically to bankruptcy with gigantic expenditure. The "Daily Mail" declares that, in speaking these words Mr. Chamberlain echoed the sentiments of every political faction in England.

CHANCELLOR'S STATEMENT

London, Feb. 17. Introducing the Defence Loan resolution in the House of Commons to-day, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, said the real justification for the loan was to be found in the unprecedented conditions "which have forced this vast expenditure upon us."

Since the Great War, he went on, enormous quantities of new weapons have been invented, as well as altered means of transport and equipment. Even the figure of £1,500,000,000 over a period of five years, which it was estimated would be needed for armaments, could not be regarded as final, he warned. However, if circumstances allowed them to reduce their programme they would be welcomed. On the other hand, if conditions again changed to Britain's disadvantage, they might find the figure estimated for defence did not represent the total that Britain would be obliged to spend.

Replying to an interjection from Mr. Arthur Henderson who asked whether Britain would be fighting her own battles or forming part of collective security, Mr. Chamberlain said it would not be in the public interest to state, in theory, whom they were going to fight, or who might be their allies. The Government's plans were not directed against any power or group of powers, but it was the Government's duty to submit a programme necessary for the nation's safety and the fulfilment of its obligations.

The Treasury would raise the money it required either by the issue of Treasury Bills or various other forms of loans, with or out sinking funds.

SAFEGUARD TO PEACE

Mr. C. R. Attlee, leader of the Opposition, asserted in the House that the loan was essentially a war measure. This was fundamentally untrue, said Mr. Chamberlain, for the Bill was actually considered by the Government as a safeguard to peace.

No-one, least of all the Chancellor of the Exchequer, could see the growing accumulation of burdens without feelings of disgust and shame that civilisation was preferring to break its own back instead of trying to settle its own differences by give and take. For the time-being, they could do nothing else but set their teeth and go forward with the measures they could not afford to lay aside.

Mr. Pethick Lawrence voiced Labour's opposition to the £400,000,000 loan, contending the policy of inflation created a "disguised tax which fell upon some backs least able to bear it, and left the people fettered to a burden of debt for years to come."

Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal leader, said that his party would support any armament measure for which the necessity was proved. The policy of the dictator countries had made much expenditure on rearmament in Britain evil and dangerous, but an in-

RUBBER TREE WASTAGE

Amortisation Account Advocated

More Vigorous Policy Necessary

London, February 18. The need for the establishment of amortisation account by British rubber producing companies is stressed by the "Financial Times" in a leading article. The journal points out that the decrease or wastage of trees in the industry is likely to be considerable during the next twenty-four years, one authority actually placing the figure at 4,259,000 acres in the period 1931-61.

The paper recalls that when British producers undertook the rehabilitation of the rubber industry by means of the Stevenson Scheme, their Netherlands neighbours promptly planted up new areas, and asks whether this example is to be ignored by their Malayan confreres.

Under the International Rubber Restriction Committee scheme, a company may plant ten per cent. of its area in any one year, but this privilege was only turned into account in comparatively few instances, presumably because of insufficient allowance being made in past years for the important question of amortisation.

Some quarters suggest that 1d. per pound was the correct amount to be set aside annually for this purpose, but in view of the leeway to be made up, 3d. would be more correct.

In conclusion, the paper states that there is no cause for lack of confidence by those responsible for the welfare of the rubber plantation industry, for it cannot be imagined that it will not be carefully preserved. Evidence, however, points clearly to the desirability of a more vigorous policy in the matter of tree wastage.

FORMER KING'S FINANCE

Legal Adviser To Visit Vienna

London, Feb. 18. The legal adviser of the Duke of Windsor, Sir Walter Monckton, is expected to go to the Ensenfeld Castle near Vienna over the weekend to discuss the impending financial arrangements with the former King.

The question whether Parliament will grant the Duke an allowance, or whether the Royal Family will have to provide the necessary funds from its own means, is still unsettled.

Since the Civil List of the new King will be submitted to Parliament within the next few weeks, the Government wants to clarify the situation.

Sir Walter had lengthy conversations with Government quarters.

The Duke of Windsor at present does not draw anything from the State, and as far as is known, he does not own a private fortune of any considerable amount. It is generally thought that, should the former King express this desire, the British Government would allot funds to him.

DOMINIONS' DEFENCES

London, Feb. 17. Replying in the debate in which the Labour Opposition criticised the defence loan, Mr. Neville Chamberlain declared that Labour had not answered his question with regard to whether its members did or did not challenge the extent of the programme of rearmament. The White Paper, he said, emphasised that much of the proposed expenditure was non-recurrent.

Referring to the Dominions, he said there was no intention to suggest that Britain had any right to call on them to make any contribution to a common defence fund. He pointed out that the Dominions had spent a great deal of money on improving their own defences and that was their contribution to the common fund. There was no other form of contribution of which he was aware being discussed at present, Mr. Chamberlain said.

The House adjourned at this point.

MACHINE GUNS ON TREES

Salamanca, Feb. 18. The early morning air attack on the Catalan town of Lerida on Thursday indicates that the Nationalists are now pursuing a policy of attacking on a large area, thus not permitting the Reds to concentrate on the Madrid front.

A battle is raging hotly at the Jarama front, and the Nationalists have succeeded in advancing six kilometres in one drive in the early morning. The battle is going on in olive orchards, which cover the whole area, and the Reds have even placed machine guns on trees.

The Nationalists are now within 20 kilometres of Alcala de Freres.

Graving Dock At Singapore

One of Britain's most carefully guarded secrets is the future of the Selayar naval base at Singapore, where the graving dock designed to take ships up to 50,000 tons will be completed in July, states the "Bulletin" (Glasgow). But Japan has apparently no illusions regarding the base's place in British strategy, and only the other day Mr. Arita, her Foreign Minister, declared his Government's intention to further friendly relations with Britain, particularly by means of a naval limitation pact.

It is hardly to be disputed that Japan hopes that one day Britain will be so embroiled in Europe that she will be unable adequately to defend her territories in the Pacific, where the Japanese race, which has found the climate of Manchuria inhospitable, may find room to expand in the sun.

For years Japan has cast envious eyes in the direction of the empty spaces of thinly populated Australia, which, worried by the face of events in Europe, is only now beginning to improve her defences.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE DISCUSSION

Naval experts believe that Britain, alive to the potential danger of Japan, intends to form a Pacific fleet with Singapore as headquarters, the whole of which, including fortifications, is due to be completed at the end of 1939 at a cost of more than £10,000,000.

Such a scheme was in the air before the Great War and afterwards, but was pigeon-holed before the Washington Conference (1921-22), which resulted in a naval peace that lasted until last year, when Japan walked out of the London conversations because Britain and the United States were unwilling to grant her equality.

Now the Pacific fleet scheme may be revived, if only because something must be done with the costly Singapore base, and it is expected that the question will be dealt with by the Imperial Conference, which opens in May.

It has been pointed out that the nearest British battleships being stationed at Malta, 6,000 miles away, the combined naval forces of the Dominions and the Mother Country in the Pacific would be unable to resist any fleet that contained battleships.

The completion, early in 1940, of the four or five powerful battleships already scheduled for by the Home Government would, it is stated, release a similar number of older capital ships for possible duty in the Pacific. The Imperial Conference is expected to discuss whether the present China, Australian, and New Zealand cruisers, destroyers, and submarines should become part of the Pacific fleet or retain their present status.

GREAT BRITAIN'S CHANCES IN 1937 DAVIS CUP

ANNUAL RACE MEETING

THE FOCHOV CUP

This curtain raiser over 1-1/2 miles should only attract a small field and in the absence of Liberty Bay, who will not be starting at the meeting, the obvious choice would be King's Warden (F. Marshall). I am inclined to think that the Dunbar interests will reserve Bear Claw for the New Stables Plate, the last race of the day, and will be represented here by Wild Life, ridden probably by Mr. Frost. Honeycomb Eve (V. V. Needa), last year's Derby winner may also accept and together with Wild Life should occupy the remaining places. I cannot visualize any of the other entrants, if started, such as Pontiac Bay, Soldier of Peace or Silver Smith, making any impression on the three above mentioned ponies.

THE WONG-NEI-CHONG STAKES

Unusual interest is always attached to the Wong Nei Chong Stakes, as this event has quite often produced substantial dividends. This race is divided into two sections (Race No. 2 and No. 3) and the Stewards determine by lot in which section the intending starters are placed. At the time of writing the draw is not yet to hand and I will therefore hold over my comments on this race until to-morrow morning. However, punters should seriously consider such as Aramis, Araxy, Feltar, Chiu Shan, Flying Arrow, The Tin and Weedon Seat.

MAIDEN STAKES

It is difficult to forecast the probable starters in this six furlong sprint confined to China ponies, bona fide griffins of the meeting. Owners have the choice between this event and the Trial Plate later in the day in which to start their candidates. The Eve stable should run close with Havoc Eve (V. V. Needa), Red Feather, belonging to Mrs. Dunbar, and Vira (S. C. Liang) are two other ponies which I favour. King's Coronation, Scenic View (T. L. Wong), Kum Shan (H. M. Pih), Thunder Bay, and Royal Mail (N. Deltz) may make up the balance of the field. A great deal will depend on the start and special note should be taken of the draw for positions at the starting gate.

SYDNEY MAIDENS

As in the case of the Wong Nei Chong Stakes, the Sydney Maidens for Australian ponies of this season, is divided into two sections (Race Nos. 4 and 5), with the intending starters in each section being determined by lot. My comments on the chances of the various starters will be published to-morrow together with the notes on the Wong Nei Chong Stakes. For the present my fancies include: Aztec, Lancashire Chips, Gypsy Love, Stratherrick, and Home Brew.

THE CHINA STAKES

This five furlong sprint for old China ponies should be a close affair, between Soldier of Britain (H. C. Pih), Oak Bay (Davis) and Diana Bay, Herod (V. V. Needa) may also be a starter but should do no better than obtain a place. If at all King's Sceptre (Marshall), King's Bounty (H. M. Pih) and Mistake Bay may start in order to qualify for races later in the meeting.

THE TRIAL PLATE

This prelude to the Hong Kong Derby, and considered by many as a true indication of the prospects for the Blue Riband, should attract a medium field. Rosemary, the Eu Tong Sen representative, it is rumoured, will not be saddled until the classic on Monday, and I, therefore, have no hesitation in nominating Happy Eve (V. V. Needa) as the winner of the Trial Plate. The distance of 1 1/2 miles may prove a little trying for the probable Dunbar candidate, Commencement Bay, and this grey will have to be well pushed in order to secure a place. Expansion Time (Pote Hunt) has a nice easy action and should finish behind Happy Eve. For third place I fancy Potentate belonging to Mr. Eu Tong Sen and to be ridden by Mr. Leighton.

THE VALLEY STAKES

This semi-classic for subscription griffins of the year should be the main attraction and produce the largest field of the day. As far as I have been able to ascertain, the following will go to the post: Chun Teen (Needa), Coronation Day (Frost), Feudal Knight (D. S. Li), Gordito (Sung), Helephant (Leighton), Mariposa (Deltz), National Anthem (H. C. Pih), Pagan Love (Marshall), Persian Cat (T. L. Wong), Tempest (Y. T. Fung), Whalsey (Hearne) and Yum Sing (Black).

On training performances Pagan Love and Coronation Day appear to have the rest of the field well beaten and should fight out the issue between them. The Valley Stakes, however, has proved to be very elusive to "hot favourites" quite often in the past and an upset may again be expected. To my mind, the next best is Tempest, followed by Yum Sing and Helephant. Here again, the draw for positions at the starting gate is of importance. With the course dry and in excellent condition, I expect the race will be run in faster time than has been the case heretofore for this class of ponies.

OLD COURSE PLATE

Many an old favourite in the "D" Class will be out for honours in this race. The distance (1 1/2 miles) may be the undoing of some of the entrants but Pride of Ting-tao, Gold Coin, Laughing Buddha and Wadebridge appear most likely. Night View has been galloping well but the weight may prove a little too much. Sylvandale will be ridden by Mr. Frost and if the race is run in slow time, this chestnut will be hard to catch in the last quarter.

THE BENDIGO STAKES

All eight Australian "B" Class ponies entered for this race over 1 mile will go to the post. A few of our prominent local jockeys as well as some of our Northern visitors will find it difficult to weigh out at the allotted weights. Saucy Face (H. C. Pih), Centre Court and Violet Queen (S. C. Liang) are strongly fancied. Honey will be Mr. Sung's mount, while Perfect Day will be under Mr. Pote Hunt's care and Mr. Hearne will take out Snowy River.

THE NEW STABLES PLATE

The closing event of the day looks a good thing for Bear Claw (Frost). Gladiator will be Mr. Needa's mount and should be able to withstand the challenge from the other starters, such as Rose Queen (Leighton), King's Justice (Deltz) and Cossack's Beauty (T. L. Wong). The latter should get third place.

The above comments are based on the assumption that the various ponies will start in the different races as indicated, but my final selections with a short review of the Wong Nei Chong Stakes and Sydney Maidens will appear in to-morrow's issue.

Optimistic Views Of L.T.A. President

Draw Made In Admiralty House

The draw for another season's campaign for the Davis Cup was made at Admiralty House by Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty and president of the Lawn Tennis Association, states the "Times."

In yet another historic setting the brief ceremony, with its winter memories of midsummer days, was much what it has been in past years—the attendance of diplomatic representatives of the 24 challenging nations, the whirling of cameras, the shuffling of names in the massive bowl that so many have striven for and so few won; but a question that must have been in the minds of many of those present was whether this might not be the last time the draw would be held in London, as the capital of the holders, for many a year.

Sir Samuel Hoare, after a cordial reference to the "return of Italy to the competition, took an optimistic view of Great Britain's chances. It did not in the least mean, he said, that because F. J. Perry had gone we were depressed or nervous about the success of the 1937 team.

The draw was made in the following order:—

EUROPEAN ZONE

Italy, Monaco, Germany, Austria, Sweden, Greece, byes.

First Round—Belgium v. Hungary; Switzerland v. Ireland; South Africa v. Netherlands; China v. New Zealand.

Yugoslavia, Rumania, Poland, Czechoslovakia, France, Norway, byes.

PERRY'S DEPARTURE

While it is not inevitable that Great Britain, holders for the past four years, should be beaten when they come to the Challenge Round in July, their chances must be seriously diminished by the secession of Perry, without whom the cup would never have been won in 1933 or, perhaps, kept for so long. True, there was one unimpeachable year, when a clean sweep was made of all five matches. Last year, however, had not H. W. Austin played the finest game of his career Australia could have lost two singles to Perry and still taken the cup back with them, which shows that the team counts for more than the man, and yet, because experience stands for so much in this international championship, it has been abundantly shown that no nation can hope to keep on winning with a succession of new players, however skilled they may be. There will be plenty of competition for Perry's place, though the choice does not seem wide. The Davis Cup is by no means lost yet.

It seems reasonable to suppose that either the United States or Australia will meet the British team in the Challenge Round, and of the two the United States, with D. Budge presumably a finer player than ever, seems the more likely to succeed. Still, Australia have again, challenged in the American Zone, which they won last year, and, if only J. H. Crawford could strike his proper form, have more sound experience behind them than any other team in the competition. Japan, too, has challenged on the other side. Not long ago it seemed that they might be the next winners of the cup. South Africa will be welcome visitors on their biennial trip to Europe. They might well meet New Zealand early on. Germany, it is hoped, will have better physical fortune than last year; but the improving

WANTED

Then Bury Gave Him Chance

Isn't it just like football that a player who couldn't get a crib at home should leap into the limelight almost the moment he should decide to travel? writes a Home correspondent.

Thus John Wylie, who left his farm home in Scotland around New Year time to take a trial with Bury, John simply couldn't make the grade in Scotland. So, in the middle of the season, he persuaded Patrick Thistle to grant him a free transfer.

For a good many weeks he went without a single offer. Not even a Scottish Second Division club had the courage to make him one.

And he missed his weekly game so much that he was quite prepared to join a club of low estate! Seems now as though they've all made a slip.

Wylie shaped so well in Bury's Central League team that he was chosen to play against Burnley in their recent, cup-tie at Turf Moor. I'm not going to suggest he was a storm at Turf Moor but then Bury had a poor match there.

Anyway, John has been engaged by the Shakers till the end of the season. They have big hopes for him in the town of puddings.

FLASHES FROM FIELD AND PAVILION

Sport Items From Here And There

(BY BEN MADIGAN)

As the title of this article suggests, it deals with "small items" of interest to the sporting community and it is my intention to include in it items dealing with every form of sport. It will run as a regular Friday feature in the "Daily Press."

TO-MORROW'S GAMES ANALYSED

Now that the Interport games have been fought out, the league clubs resume their normal programme to-morrow. Rifles, the leaders, will be out to avenge their early season defeat at the hands of St. Joseph's, even though Campbell and Erwin are doubtful starters. Fusiliers at full strength, should overcome the mediocre Navy team at Prince Edward Road. Let us hope that the South China "A" —China "B" clash at Caroline Hill will not be a repetition of their previous farcical meeting. Of the remaining fixtures, the clash between Eastern and Seaforths look like a draw, Kowloon (C) should beat Club, Athletic look good against Kowloon, and Police may strike a winning vein at the expense of Recoils.

WARD IMPRESSES

Not since I had the pleasure of seeing Jack Barker, the Derby County and England centre half in action, have I come across a player so ideally built for the job as Ward the Shanghai centre half. Ward put up a stonewall defence against the pick of our sharp-shooting forwards, and was the key man of the team.

THIRD BACK GAME SNAG

I notice that the third back game, originally introduced by the famous Arsenal (England), is being exploited in local football in a more crude form. I had the opportunity of studying this type of defence when in England and from a spectator's point of view, found it boring to watch. When it was in its infancy I sought the views of Bobby Irvine, the former Everton and Portsmouth star on the subject, and he said it took the thrill out of football.

HOCKEY RIVALRY

Only the brilliance of Miss Wong kept the C.B.S. centre half, Miss McCaw from obtaining Interport honours this season. After seeing her masterly display for The Rest against Shanghai, the former will have to look to her laurels next season. Filling the right back position in the Rest team, Miss B. Pope, Hong Kong Ladies' regular centre half gave a sound display, and was the best defender on the field.

STILL THE BEST

If ever a player deserved a word of praise in glorious defeat, it is

Golf Prizes That Are Worth Winning

There are sham amateurs, I suppose, in every sport, now that prowess in games is an almost automatic passport to fame, writes a London Correspondent. Definitions of the "shamateur" vary. My own, for what it is worth, is "a man whose principal aim, in devoting the time, trouble and expense necessary to maintain his skill, is something more than that of deriving pleasure from the game."

In certain sports—and we need not offend anyone by going into details—it would be possible, granted sufficient skill, to make a very reasonable living as a shamateur. Golf, as it stands at the moment, is not one of those sports—at any rate in Great Britain.

I do not believe, for instance, that if Mr. Hector Thomson, the outstanding amateur player of the day, were to take it into his head to devote all his ingenuity to making a surreptitious living out of the game, he could pay his expenses and clear $10 a week—possibly not even $5.

Opportunities for "cheating" at golf are open strangely enough, to the mediocre player more than to the expert—to the man whose conscience permits him to juggle with his handicap.

INCREASING PRIZE VALUES

In the vast majority of cases the offence is not deliberate. It springs rather from carelessness, from a lack of appreciation of the issues involved. And so it will re-

Lee Wai-long. His rallying of the Interport XI in the closing stages of their encounter with Shanghai, was magnificent. Despite the critics, Lee, along with his club-mate Fung King-cheong, were the only forwards on the field worthy of mention. This pair still form the most deadly forward combination in the Far East.

USEFUL RECRUIT

Rifles have unearthed an able recruit in Galbraith who had a run in their second string last week-end. I would very much like to have seen this promising lad given a try out, earlier in the season. He gave a promising display against South China, and with a little speeding up he should develop into a useful player.

GOSSIP FROM CAROLINE HILL

As a result of the injury received in the Interport, Leung Wing-chiu is still a doubtful starter for South China "A" to-morrow. I hear it whispered that Yeung Shui-yick, the South China "B" and Interport star may find a place in the China "A" team in the near future. This clever winger is equally at home in both inside positions. Chan Tak-fai will lead the China "B" forward line against China "A" to-morrow.

RATED THE BEST

Many sound judges grade Cheong Moon-wing, the Athletic left wing, the finest in the Colony. He should be a certainty for Interport honours next season, providing he remedies his one fault of crossing the ball too hurriedly. His speed and accuracy are the feature of his play.

JUNIOR STARS

The recent "Boy's" game at Soekunpoo proved a happy hunting ground for the talent seekers. Young players to catch the eye were—P. Jorge (La Salle) and A. Cruz, whose sparkling forward combination was a delight to watch. If enthusiasm goes for anything, these juniors have a promising future ahead of them.

SCOTLAND'S MIGHT

Scotland have selected a formidable side to oppose England in Sunday's Charity Cup Game. The team composes five Seaforths, with a strong sprinkling of other local stars. Wales are taking no chances in facing the Irish eleven, for which Campbell is a doubtful starter. North (Police) may find a place in the Welsh side.

Australian Ladies XI For England

Pen Pictures Of Some Of The Team

Although the cricket season seems a long way off, the fifteen Australian women players who are coming to this country will set sail for England while we are playing our International hockey matches, writes a Home correspondent.

Thirteen of these players were chosen some time ago, and now the team has been completed. Miss Betty Archdale, captain of our team which toured Australia, has sent me some interesting notes on some of these players whom she met. Here are the players:—

Margaret Peden, of New South Wales, is the captain. She has a good all-round knowledge of the game, was Secretary of the Australian Cricket Council, and is largely responsible for the growth of women's cricket in Australia.

Peggy Antonio (Victoria) is the bowler who caused our players much trouble. She bowls leg spinners with an occasional off-break. She is a good, strong bat and a brilliant field. Miss Archdale wrote England. On wickets as hard as a polished dining-room table, and with a full-size ball, she can make the ball break several inches in any direction.

Nell McClarty (Victoria) is a fast bowler, hurricane hitter, and a brilliant short-leg field.

Hazel Pritchard is a beautiful bat with most attractive style and a fine variety of strokes. She made 75 for New South Wales against England, and played for Australia.

Kate Smith, an excellent all-rounder and a strong bat both in defence and attack. Good fast bowler and pegs away at the leg-stump. Was vice-captain of Australia, and has an almost perfect throw-in from the field.

A. Hudson (New South Wales). Played for Australia in the Third Test as a fast bowler and took one wicket for seven runs.

Of her last year: "I do not think we have any bowler as good in the team will arrive in England in time for the Coronation, but their tour will not start officially until June 1, when there will be a reception, lunch and practice at the home of the Chairman of the Women's Cricket Association at Great Comp, Kent. On June 2 the tour proper starts with a match against Kent on the Bat and Ball ground at Gravesend."

CORONATION YEAR ON THE TURF

New Race At Liverpool

Although not first in the field, Chester, with its £750 Coronation Plate for the May meeting, follows closely on Liverpool.

A week ago the Liverpool executive announced a new Coronation year race. This is to be run on Grand National Day. It will be a handicap over the 1 mile 6 furlongs course, and will be known as the King George VI. Stakes.

Epsom and Ascot both announced in the autumn the special steps they are taking to mark Coronation year.

As Epsom has already a Coronation Cup, instituted in King Edward VII's reign, there will be no new race. But the winning jockey and trainer will receive a gold-mounted whip and a £50 gold cigarette box.

So far, Royal Ascot is the most generous of all meetings. The prize money for the Gold Cup will be increased by £2,250, and the winner alone will receive nearly £8,000.

DONATION

The Women's Auxiliary of the Society for the Protection of Children acknowledges with grateful thanks a donation of $10 from Mons. P. Mandelny, of the Belgian Bank, Tientsin.

The captain of the club has kindly offered a motor-car, value £100, as the first prize. The second prize is valued at £20.

Now in my humble opinion the club are, unwittingly, laying themselves open to disaster—and laying a number of the less scrupulous among us open to a temptation that should not be put in our way.

BUTTERFLY STROKE IN COMPETITIONS

Alterations In A.S.A. Laws

MANY CLUB DELEGATES WILL NOT APPRECIATE ONE SIGNIFICANT OMISSION IN THE ALTERATIONS TO A.S.A. LAWS WHICH ARE BEING SPONSORED BY THE A.S.A. COMMITTEE. THESE PROPOSALS CONFORM WITH THE NEW LAWS PASSED BY THE INTERNATIONAL SWIMMING FEDERATION, WRITES A CORRESPONDENT IN THE "MORNING POST."

The A.S.A. Committee, however, have not recommended the Federation's ruling that the butterfly stroke shall be admitted in international competitions. If there is, not a direct resolution from a District, English swimmers will not be allowed to use this stroke in competitions held under A.S.A. Laws.

I rather that a majority of the A.S.A. Committee are opposed to the stroke, although every country except Great Britain voted in favour of it at the Federation meeting in Berlin. An English official at the Olympic Games told me he was opposed to the stroke on several grounds, and added that he was not going to be dictated to by professionals who had discovered the stroke.

Well, no professional coach can claim any credit for the discovery. The stroke was developed by members of a boys' club in New York, despite the scorn of professional coaches.

Admittedly, the American butterfly performer, John Higgins, failed to take a place in the Olympic 200 metres, but if the race had been over 100 metres there would have been a different result. Higgins would have come home alone!

Crawl Too Exhausting

When the stroke became known about two years ago, the general belief in the U.S.A. was that the tiring above-surface recovery would not give the best results in the Olympic events; but that belief no longer holds. It is now claimed that if the stroke is taught from childhood it will be possible to develop the necessary muscular power and stamina to stay out 200 metres at racing pace.

When Kanhamoku crawled to victory in the Olympic sprint at Stockholm in 1912, the "old brigade" were emphatic that the "crawl" was too exhausting for any beyond 100 metres! And the same opinion was voiced in the early days of the back-crawl stroke!

If the "butterfly" is not recognised by the A.S.A. our swimmers will be handicapped in international competitions. For example, will the stroke be banned when England and Germany meet at Wembley this summer?

"Seeding" Problems

The A.S.A. Committee's recommendation that the entries for the National Championships be "seeded" does not offer any guarantee to prevent a repetition of the position which occurred in the 100 yards final last year.

The existing rule is for the winner of each heat, and the two fastest losers, to qualify for the semi-finals or the final, as the case may be. This ensures that the three competitors returning the fastest time in the preliminaries go forward to the final. Last year A. W. Arenier won his heat in 59.4.5sec. and finished sixth in the great satisfaction to Scottish golfers, and particularly to those associated with the West Coast.

Although the Amateur Championship has been played annually since 1885 (except during the years of the Great War) it has never yet been decided over Old Troon.

In some measure this may be attributed to the fact that when the big amateur event came to the West of Scotland Prestwick was the favoured course; and it is not to be wondered at, for Prestwick was not only the cradle of the Open Championship, in the days when the contest was described as for the Champion Belt (which was ultimately won outright by young Tom Morris), but was in the regular rota of Amateur Championship greens from 1888 onwards.

Troon, however, had the distinction of housing the Open Championship in 1923—the year when Arthur Havers temporarily stopped the conquering Americans. On that occasion the highest opinion was formed by the world's greatest golfers of the Troon course, and it is therefore not surprising that at long last the Amateur Championship is to come to the Troon club.

PHILIPPINE MINING NEWS

Development results at the Batong-Buhay Gold Mines near Baguio have been definitely encouraging, according to a report made recently by E. W. Berry, superintendent. Extracts from this report follow.

"The month of January has been a very encouraging month at the Batong-Buhay Camp, as this month saw the discovery of several new veins, and the proving of existing veins. The dry season has started here and this enables us to prospect over the entire group."

"The present main working tunnels, Tunnel A (the old Johnson tunnel), and the new Tunnel B, have both been advanced a considerable distance. Tunnel A now measures 102 feet from portal to face, total footage made during January in this tunnel was 52 feet, following the Caliente vein. Nine sets of timbers were placed during this work."

"Fifty feet from the portal of Tunnel A in the old Johnson cross-cut a raise was driven for 20 feet to form a connection with Tunnel B. This raise is kept open as an emergency roadway in case of earthquakes or slides, and also greatly assists in the ventilation. Tunnel A is following the soft Caliente along the vein, and every foot of the work so far shows a nice string of gold in the pan on our regular check panning."

"Tunnel B has been driven a total of 195 feet from portal to face, total footage made during month of January is 105 feet, twelve sets of timbers were placed during this work. Tunnel B is a crosscut tunnel, being driven approximately East and West, whereas Tunnel A is driven on the vein, running approximately North and South. Tunnel B cuts over Tunnel A in its course, and in driving this tunnel we have just cut a Caliente vein (the same that Tunnel A is drifting on), that shows a total width of 60 feet."

"That vein pans free gold across its entire width, and is shot through with quartz stringers. This tunnel will be driven across all known existing veins into the country rock to attempt to cut a suspected vein to the West of all present workings. Tunnels A and B are located on Claim A-23, and we are working two shifts in both tunnels."

"The Malinao vein in Claim A-2 and A-3 is showing up very strong; two men are working on it driving a crosscut which is at present 15 feet from portal to face, and they have not reached the full width of the vein as yet. This vein is quartz, and four other open cuts were made along the vein, and values checked by panning, free gold was shown in the pan with lots of sulphides in every case."

"Claims A-17 and A-20 a five foot vein has been discovered running three foot of quartz and two foot of Caliente. One crosscut tunnel has been started on this vein and three open cuts. This vein does not show free gold, but is being checked by assays."

"On Claims A-12 and A-12 and A-13 five crosscuts have been made on the vein. This vein resembles the Malinao vein in many respects."

"Claims A-39 and A-35 have had three crosscuts driven on the vein. The work is being done on a four foot Caliente vein. Two of the crosscuts are in six feet, and another one 28 feet from portal to face. Free gold was panned on this vein."

"On Claim A-26 three crosscuts have been driven across one and a half foot wide stringers. These stringers appear to be quite rich as a long string of colours is shown at each panning. One crosscut is 20 feet from portal to face."

"Two new discoveries have been made close to camp, on Claim A-24. A vein of quartz 4 1/2 feet wide has been discovered. This vein is striking southwest, and pans free gold."

"Another discovery has been made directly across the creek from camp and within 100 metres from the camp. A strong vein of oxidized quartz has been exposed that pans a remarkable amount of free gold, at present a cross cut has been driven five feet on the vein without reaching the other side."

"On the miscellaneous work done, considerable lumber has been sawed, and a superintendent's house is 70 per cent complete. Excavations have been made for another grass house 18 feet by 30 feet for housing workmen, as at the present time the camp is somewhat crowded. The blacksmith shop is being moved up the hill toward the mine, partly to eliminate the fire hazard from the grass thatched camp, and partly to make room for a new building."

SINGAPORE RAW RUBBER

Hong Kong, Feb. 18.

Messrs. H. B. Joseph & Co., received the following quotations from Singapore in Straits Currency for Raw Rubber:

Needless to say a crew is working on this discovery daily. A programme of systematic sampling has just been completed and samples shipped to Baguio. A total of 41 samples were cut, and from assay returns of these samples our future development programme will depend.

PIECE GOODS FOR CHINA

Fall In Britain's Exports

The China and Far East Section of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce has issued its report, and as far as China is concerned it makes melancholy reading: Cotton piece-goods exports in 1934, 33,800,000 square yards; in 1935, 14,500,000 yards; in 1936 eleven months, 4,300,000 square yards. The report ascribes the fall in exports to disturbances in China, but acute competition is probably the answer.

The trend is still downwards, though the general opinion is that China and China's trade are recovering. The contention is advanced that the import tariff is prohibitive, that China will soon find her high duties will result in less revenue, and that a reduction will follow.

This should be of some assistance, but the competition Britain is likely to meet with from piece-goods woven in Chinese mills is likely to increase. The demand for yarn, shipped as a rule via Hong Kong, has remained steady and the construction of more mills should increase this demand. In Malaya the position is reversed and our exports of piece-goods were over five million square yards more in 1935 (eleven months) than in 1934. Increased prices in rubber and tin should improve purchasing power in Malaya, so Britain may hope for a good market for piece-goods for some time to come. The Netherlands East Indies are taking more Lancashire goods and the outlook there is brighter than it has been for some time.

London, Feb. 17.

BRITISH EXPORT INCREASE

Figures For 1936

The preliminary figures of Overseas Trade in December, and for 1936, published in the "Board of Trade Journal," make a more encouraging showing for the past month than for some little time past.

It is true that, as against the value of imports in December of 1935, the value of exports and re-exports was £46,618,000, but the latter figure showed an increase over the same month of last year of more than £6,000,000 and also an advance over the figure for November.

For the whole of the year, the total value of imports was £845,
